EVENTS OF FIFTY YEARS

Propose to Add Greeneville, Norwich Town, Bean Hill and East Great Plain to Norwich-Much Opposition Was Manifested Fifty Years Ago.

In Norwich fifty years ago the chief topic of discussion was the proposed increase to the city of Norwich. It was proposed to include Greeneville, Norwich Town, Bean Hill and East Great plain in the city limits. Many meetings were held to try and prevent the action as it was said that no material benefit could be derived from such a policy.

Extracts from The Bulletin's files of '68 follow:

Street while scuffing playfully with a friend in a store, Saturday, dashed his hand through a pane of glass and cut the artery, tendons and nerves in the arm and badly lacerated the flesh.

Arrested Bold Swindler.

May 8, 1868:—A bold swindler who had obtained considerable money from local manufacturers was arrested by Capt. Small. The man had claimed that he was an agent of a concern that made dies and that certain concerns in this city had infringed on his patent. He had papers made out which looked all right and many paid without a murmur.

The residents of East Great Plain are also in opposition to the proposed extension of the city and will adopt a resolution to prevent it.

The Weather.

May 9, 1868:—The weather took a sudden change on Friday and a heavy snow fell for sometime. There were several inches of snow which disappeared very rapidly and the sun came out. On the Sound a heavy thunder storm was reported. The die swindler who was arrested

May 4, 1868:—At a meeting held in Norwich Town on Saturday evening to discuss the proposed plan of increasing the limits of the city to include Norwich Town and Bean Hill.

There was considerable opposition to the projects as many claimed that they did not want to saddle themselves with a debt that they had no part in contracting, and of which not one dollar had been spent for their benefit.

A resolution was adopted appointing a committee of five to take immediate action to prevent the extending of the sufficient roots wall which is to encircle the reservoir has been built and about one-half of the land has been cleared. From the large number of springs that have made their appearance since the work began it is thought that the reservoir will be excellent quality.
